DETAILED ACTION

1. The finality of the rejection of the last Office action is withdrawn. The following action replace the last action mailed on 2/26/03.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: it is not clear how the admitted prior art works. Why the saw machine use the outermost alignment marks 111, when Fig. 1 shows the alignment marks are in all of the substrate areas? Why the saw machine does not wait until the strip expands in order to cut using cutting marks? Are the cutting tracks imaginary lines created by two cutting marks?

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 7 and 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Roberts (6321739 B1).

Art Unit: 3724

Roberts discloses the process including a strip (20 and 40) having a plurality of substrate areas, providing a plurality of alignment marks (e.g. 36, 46 and 48), providing a plurality of cutting marks (e.g. 36, 46 and 48), positioning the saw machine (7 and 17) with respect to the substrate area (col. 3, line 5), cutting each individual substrate areas (Fig. 1) and an encapsulated area 28.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roberts et al. in view of Drussel et al.

Roberts discloses the method substantially as claimed except for two substrate strips juxtaposed for cutting. However, Drussel teaches the use of the method of two substrate strips juxtaposed for cutting for the purpose of increasing the production. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Roberts's device by providing the method of two substrate strips juxtaposed for cutting as taught by Drussel in order to increase the production.
